PUBLIC APOLOGY

(Sale of Counterfeit Bench Products)

On December, 2005 during surveillance and best-buy operations conducted by the Special Task Force Mavrick of the Philippine National Police-Criminal Investigation Detection Group, certain counterfeit Bench products were found and purchased from my store, named S.S.B. Underwear Store located at the 2E-13, 165 Shopping Mall, Santa Elena, Manila. These counterfeit Bench products were earlier sold to me by a trader.

I am now a respondent in a criminal case initiated by Seven Corporation, owner of the BENCH trademark.

This is to publicly apologize to Suyen Corporation for having sold and dealt with counterfeit Bench products, whether or not known to me to be counterfeit, for any damage caused to Suyen, its BENCH trademark and goodwill. I have undertaken not to sell or otherwise deal in any product bearing the BENCH trademark or any trademark owned and/or used by Suyen Corporation. I have likewise agreed to provide assistance in preventing the sale of counterfeit BENCH products and in identifying those who sell or trade thereon.

Asean parliament, other RP proposals get nod at KL meet

THE CREATION OF AN ASEAN PARLIAMENT—A Philippine proposal introduced in the 28th Asian Inter-Parliamentary Assembly (AIPA) held recently in Indonesia...was approved for inclusion in the Asian Charter following an impassioned appeal by Singapore.

These other Philippine initiatives were approved for adoption by the region's leading parliamentarians meeting in Bangkok, Thailand, signaling major progress in turning the AWP into a relevant force for regional cooperation and sustained economic and cultural integration.

The other Philippine initiatives endorsed by the ASEM were a multilateral consultation treaty jointly sponsored with Indonesia, a feasibility study on the creation of an Asian Monetary Fund, and a $4-billion trade program to reduce the region's mountains and fight global warming, according to Rep. Antonio Cuenco, House Foreign Relations Committee chair and a member of the Philippine delegation.

In Mexico, said the Asian Performance Index "just off the index of Asia's economic vitality" following Europe, Latin America and Africa which have regional performance.

"It is this Asia—cradle of the great civilizations, religions and cultures—finally takes a decisive step toward creating its own regional organization led by Asian," The Observer.

BRITISH AMERICAN TOBACCO

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF THE PHILIPPINES

Over the past three years, British American Tobacco (BAT) and our local business partner La Suerte Cigar and Cigarette Factory have worked with the Government of the Philippines to follow the clearly defined legal process to achieve the appropriate excise tax classification of Pall Mall, one of BAT's leading global brands.

In the last week or so there has been media coverage referring to BAT and the excise tax classification of Pall Mall. Unfortunately, the media coverage has contained many factual inaccuracies and errors. For example, the allegation that BAT had prior knowledge of the Department of Finance's appeal decision is incorrect. BAT only learnt that the Department of Finance issued its decision dated 24th July 2007 on 26th July 2007.

The Department of Finance's decision upheld our appeal against the ruling of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This decision confirms that Pall Mall will continue to be taxed at the same level as other competing cigarette brands which are sold in the same price segment in the Philippine market.

BAT is committed to achieving its business objectives in accordance with high standards of probity, transparency and accountability. These principles are reflected in our Standards of Business Conduct which are publicly available on the BAT Group's website www.bat.com. Every company and every employee worldwide is expected to live up to these standards, and our business in the Philippines is no exception.

BAT has acted at all times in accordance with the excise laws and processes of the Philippines. Moreover, our behaviour has been totally consistent with our Standards of Business Conduct.

BAT recognises the importance of acting as a responsible corporate citizen in the Philippines. We seek to build a sustainable business based on the foundation of mutual benefit for the Philippine economy and all our stakeholders, including the Government, our employees, consumers, and trade partners.

We look forward to investing further in the Philippines.

31,275 pass board exams for nurses

MANILA, Aug. 31 (AP) — The Philippine Board of Nursing (PBN) announced today that 31,275 candidates passed the board exams for nurses, marking a record high for the profession. The PBN, which is the regulatory body for the nursing profession in the Philippines, held the exams in Manila and Cebu. The results were announced after a rigorous process of grading and verification. The PBN president, Dr. [Name], congratulated the successful candidates and expressed confidence in their ability to provide quality nursing care. He noted that the high number of successful candidates reflects the growing interest in the nursing profession and the effectiveness of the training programs. The PBN also announced that it will continue to monitor the performance of the new nurses and provide support and guidance as they begin their careers. The exams were held over a period of several days, with candidates from various parts of the country attending. The PBN is committed to ensuring that all nurses meet the highest standards of practice and ethics. The results of the exams will be used to issue licenses to the successful candidates, allowing them to practice as registered nurses in the Philippines. The PBN also plans to conduct further research and development to improve the nursing profession and the quality of patient care. The high number of successful candidates is a testament to the dedication and hard work of the nursing students and the support of their families and the public. The PBN will continue to work towards the advancement of the nursing profession and the betterment of the healthcare system in the Philippines.

RP's Madrigals bag choral Olympics

 By Pablo A. Torres
 Staff Writer

THE PHILIPPINE MADRIGAL Singers has won the prestigious European Grand Prix for Choral Singing held Sunday night (Monday morning, Manila time) in Arezzo, Italy.

The Male, in the choir is popularly known, is the first and only choir to win gold in silver in bronze at the choral Olympics of the world.

It won the European Grand Prix (EGRP) for the first time in June 1987 when the Madrigals represented the Talosun Competition, the first and only Philippine choir to win this competition.

When it won the Philippine Madrigal de Taron in 1984, the choir, the Philippine Choral group named the right to represent the choir in this post-school Olympics, held at the Church of St. Maria della Pace in Arezzo.

The Madrigals best formidable choir such as Italy's Santa Cecilia's Choir, Hungary's Cantabile Mosaic Choir, Cuba's Solista Camerata Cordone and the Taipei Chamber Singers.

Overwhelming

"It's overwhelming. Up to now we are very happy and pleased. We won't be disappointed," said Anthony Corpuz, the Madrigals' choir director, upon the decision by the judges from Italy.

Corpuz said the choral group performed a 20-minute program for the competition which included John Philip Sousa's arrangement of "Pomp and Circumstance," a German art song, the American contemporary song "We Belong Once Again to the Stars" by Z. Randall Stroope, and a children's song from Singapore titled "Water in Your" by Pina Nolasco.

The 40-member Philippine choir is scheduled to arrive today at 10 a.m. Corpuz said the Madrigals will perform a four-minute concert in October before heading for the United States.

choir to winning various choral competitions all over the world. Innovations passed on from choir to choir, which led the choir to winning the latest choral Olympics.

"I never had the ambition of becoming the director of a group. I had chosen for a long time," said Corpuz who took over in 2001. "But I found Professor Reyes' decision, who had been passing it on to me for this when the Maes was the 1997 EGRP."

Corpuz was overwhelmed when the Maes made history by winning the choral Olympics, the first time for this when the Maes was the 1997 EGRP.

"Working is more enjoyable than to see our hard work pay off. Feeling good about ourselves is a joy to us to work hard. As Professor Reyes always said, competitors are not the end, they are just means for us to see how well we are on track," Corpuz said.

Perfect sound

According to Corpuz there is no such thing as an ideal sound in any choral competition. The sound that the choir always tries to maintain is a free and relaxed sound but at the same time vibrant and flexible.

"I believe there is no ideal or perfect sound for a choir. I have made this conclusion after listening to many choirs from different countries of different cultures and ages. Each one sounds good but different from each other," he said.

"There are qualities that are common to choirs. They are homogeneity and the different voices parts are well balanced. This is what we consider the very ideal. Having a good sound is the most important factor in choral singing. This is difficult but attainable," Corpuz said.

Step by step

The EGRP is an annual choral competition between the winners of all European choral competitions. It was launched in 1960.

The six competitors are the Cantabile Mosaic Choir of Hungary, the Cantabile Mosaic Choir of Hungary, the Cantabile Mosaic Choir of Hungary, the Cantabile Mosaic Choir of Hungary, the Cantabile Mosaic Choir of Hungary, the Cantabile Mosaic Choir of Hungary.

Singapore's competition known as the Singapore Choral Society (SCS) is the only Asian choir to have won the EGRP. In 2004, the SCS won the EGRP in Arezzo, Italy, the International Choral Competition in Arezzo, Italy, the International Choral Competition in Arezzo, Italy, the International Choral Competition in Arezzo, Italy.

By winning the EGRP, the Madrigals qualified to compete for the EGRP.

Corpuz said, the EGRP is not strictly for European choral groups. Any group from around the world can join the competition. It is one of the EGRP's 10 member states. The competition is at the end of the year in Arezzo, Italy. Two past winners were children's choirs.

Turkey has produced the most number of EGRP winners with five choral groups. It has also had three winners, Hungary and the US had two each, Romania, Japan, Latvia, the Philippines, Russia and Slovenia had one each.

The last winner of the 2006 EGRP was the University of Utah Singers from Salt Lake City, US.

US solons slam Iraqi PM, urge troops pullout

WASHINGTON—TOP US LAWMAKERS took aim at the politician dead on Tuesday expressed opinions with Iraqi leader Nuri al-Maliki and called for a withdrawal of US troops to Iraq.

Rep. Dennis L. Blumenthal, one of the House's most influential voices on military affairs, unapologetically lambasted al-Maliki, saying that President George W. Bush should start a limited troop withdrawal from Iraq by Christmas.

"That Iraqi leader has got to be completely inept, under brilliant leadership, and that does precisely as the president asked," he told NBC's interview.

"The administration, under the leadership of Maliki and other Iraqi leaders, have totally failed to put the other part of that partnership to pliers, namely defense against al-Qaeda."

But last Wednesday, defeated Iraq's beleaguered prime minister as "a good man with a difficult job," seeking to dispel any sense that Washington is threatening itself from the government in Baghdad.

As pressure mounted on Maliki, top House Democrats and Republican leaders on Tuesday in Baghdad they had agreed to resolve any disputes that have aggravated sectarian divisions and plunged the country into political turmoil.

A statement from President John McCain's office last Tuesday said the leaders agreed to cease hostilities on issues unrelated to Saddam Hussein's Baath Party, setting in motion a series of to hold presidential elections—a key demand of Washington—and help security forces in stopping the bloodshed.

The White House quickly seized on the news as an encouraging sign of progress.

"Today's agreement is an important symbol of their commitment to work together for the benefit of all Iraqis," White House spokesman Tony LeMay wrote in a statement.

The agreement by the Iraqi leaders revealed, however, that they are among "hard-core" designed by Congress as a condition for continued US support.

The deal, which will need to be approved by parliament, aimed at Iraqi lawmakers meeting before the fall in some in Iraq and now needs before a general program report citing a general withdrawal of US troops by US officials.

Bush has launched a campaign to lead off demands for an early pullout of US troops, saying his "long" strategy, deploying an additional 20,000 troops, shows promise and needs to be given more time to work.

But Democrats on Tuesday slammed Maliki's government as a failure and said the Iraqi 125,000 "Iraqis" could not hold security forces.

New Britain Governor Bill Blumenthal, a Democratic presidential hopeful, said the "Maliki government is failing Iraq" with its discredited program on security and reconstruction.

"You've got Maliki. Working with him right now, I mean, is this guy or ally?" he said.

Democratic Senator Jack Reed also expressed disappointment with the Iraqi government but said Iraqis were not to be placed on a single point of view. Maliki talked out at US politicians saying him to go and demanded from apologize for pushing for his departure.

"The notion that if Maliki goes and everything will be fine I think raises the question that the institutional capacity to keep the ability to do things—state contracts, provide civil service to people—that's not part of the state after four years," Reed told NBC's interview.

Kim's son returns for possible N. Korea power succession

SEOUL, South Korea—The eldest son of North Korean leader Kim Jong Il has returned home after spending years abroad in a move that could be linked to the ruler's plans to choose a successor, a man close to Kim's son said Monday. Kim Jong Il's son, 36, traveled from China to Pyongyang late June, sources report. "This decision relates to the power succession," the man said. Kim Jong Il has not publicly named an heir, prompting speculation around who might eventually take the reins of power in his father's—now and whether Kim will designate one of his sons as the next leader, continuing the world's only communist dynasty. Kim took over the leadership of North Korea following the death in 1994 of his father, retired leader Kim Il-Sung.

Thailand sets post-oup elections for December 23

BANGKOK—Thailand will hold general elections once last year's military coup has ended. The nation's top electoral official said Monday. "We consider Dec. 23 the appropriate date," he said at the election commission, Bangkok. Subsequent, USC's spokesman said that the military-backed government has promised to hold elections to restore democracy before the end of the year. The announcement comes just one week after Thai voters approved an army-backed constitution for the nation's 10-year referendum.

PRINCE CHARLES (left) smiles with Camilla, during their two-day visit to the United States on Jan. 26.

10 years on, Charles finds happiness

LONDON—ELEVEN YEARS AFTER THE death of Diana 10 years ago, Prince Charles has finally found happiness with the love of his life in a relationship the British public has come to accept, if not yet endorse.

His heavy widow and the Diana herself, Charles's controversial life with long-term friend Camilla Parker-Bowles raised the eyebrows of the royal marriage and now the couple's relationship has been accepted.

When Diana died, his popularity plummeted. "The public heard him, but he had no voice," says Penny Arden, a biographer of the Prince of Wales.

"The public remembered what he had said in that interview with the BBC in 1992, that the marriage failed because Charles was obsessed with Camilla."

In a poll taken shortly after Diana's death on Aug. 31, 1997, a majority of British people said they did not believe Charles should be king and should instead divorce to be his own William who was then Queen Elizabeth II's son.

The generally public opinion began to change towards the royal widow as people saw her in a different way.

"People started to perceive her in a new light. They got to know her. She had a very close working relationship with her boys. [Diana] was only one of the three sides of things," said Ann Little, managing editor of Mail magazine.

Prince Charles was increasingly seen as a man who is to go, although he did interview publicly on issues such as modern architecture, or what was seen as his eccentricity.

However, the official announcement of his relationship with Camilla in 1999 found him able to step up from others to his own life.

The divorce Camilla—who turned 60 last month—was still married at a time when by many people and location is determined in the press as Diana was glorified.

But, Arden notes, as people began to see Camilla was not the "woman" of that time called her last "Dancing, Broadway, and just an intense person. Her public presence changed 100 percent."

With the blessing of Buckingham Palace, Charles married his longtime love in April 2005, in a ceremony attended by his son William and Harry.

India police pursue leads to bombings that killed 40

HYDERABAD, INDIA—INVESTIGATORS pursued leads on Monday from materials used to make bombs that killed 40 people in a southern Indian city, as a police called for Hindu nationalists to protest against the attacks.

The twin blasts late on Saturday in Hyderabad, an emerging information technology center, wounded about 80 people and shattered support for Hindu nationalist groups in the city.

Investigators have been close to the city police chief. Hyderabad police said some people had been questioned.

He said a chemical substance called "nitro" had been used to make the bombs.

It is used for mining and raising people. It is produced under government license, he said, adding to the criminal investigation in the neighboring state of Maharashtra, which is about 100 km north of Hyderabad.

Investigators were tracing the source of the explosion and more about the use of the bomb to find out how the criminal investigation was conducted.

The same leads said the explosives are freely available to those involved in mining industry in the area.

Police also mapped areas in the city of about 10 million people on Monday and found in the area of the attack and found in the area of the attack and found in the area of the attack.

Students make up around 30 percent of Hyderabad's population and the city is considered a center for religious tourism.

NCAA, San Beda execs settle row amicably

By Marc Anthony Meyer

THE CONTROVERSIAL AND DISRUPTIVE CASE that took the NCAA as far as the trial courts appeared headed to where it should have stayed in the first place—at the hard core.

The development staged up after officials of both the larger and San Pedro provinces announced the building of a joint green conference at 11 a.m. today at the HSC/CDM offices at the M.L.T. Tower in Chongqing.

Budget deficit seen at P50.1B this year

Latest estimate better than P63-B ceiling

By Dora C. Dantes

EVEN WITH JUST FOUR months left to make up for earlier revenue shortfalls, the national government expects to trim its budget deficit to about P50.1 billion by year's end, or better than the P63-billion of fiscal target.

The emerging full-year deficit, which will be a 20 percent decrease from the target estimated by the government earlier in fiscal year, is the Department of Finance's latest fiscal assessment paper dated Aug. 22.

Customs wants '08 target slashed by P9B to P254B

Cites cut in imports growth target, peso appreciation

By Michelle T. Dizon

THE BUREAU OF CUSTOMS WANTS ITS revenue collection target for 2008 slashed by P9 billion, saying the official goal of P254 billion was too high considering changes in the government's macroeconomic assumptions.

In a letter to Finance Secretary Margot Lim, Customs Commissioner Napoleon Manzano said the twin prongs of the Development Budget Coordination Committee (DBCC) to reduce imports growth target and raise its foreign exchange assumption for 2008 should lead to a lower collection target for the BOC.

The interagency DBCC sets the government's economic projections and targets, including those on revenue collection.

Manzano noted that the DBCC last Thursday set imports growth target to 12 percent from 13 percent, or down an absolute value of $48 billion to $45 billion, and raised the peso dollar exchange rate assumption to P47 to $1 from $46.

The BOC, the main foreign revenue-generating agency after the Bureau of Internal Revenue, bases its collection from import duties.

A rise in the peso's value adversely affects the BOC's revenue collection because the same dollar value of import taxes would have a smaller peso equivalent.

Manzano had earlier said that his office's net P1.1 billion in potential revenue collection for every P1 appreciation in the local currency's value against the dollar. To be fair in setting collection targets, the BOC's goal should be consistent with the projected peso growth and exchange rate, he said.

The revision of the foreign exchange assumption for 2008 followed the strengthening of the peso this year. The peso hit a seven-year high in the first half, breaking into the 40s in a dollar territory. This made the earlier projection of 46 to a dollar too conservative.

The collection target set for the BOC and the BIR under the assumption of their performance.

The latest revision also requires the growing of incentives to revenue collectors if their agency exceeded the full-year performance target, but imposes penalties in case of a shortfall.

Unlike the BIR, which fell short of its 2006 collection target, the BOC exceeded its goal. The reward, however, has yet to be distributed and the amount still to be determined. The national government failed to include in its 2007 budget a reward for the BOC, but said the incentive would be included in the 2008 national budget.

The Revenue Office, composed of the BSM, the Department of Finance and the National Economic and Development Authority, is the body tasked to approve the proposed incentive or penalty for a collecting agency that fell short or fell short of its collection target.

The latest revision law was one of the latest revision of the Agency's administration involved in help for the government's fiscal house in order.

The revenue collection goal set for the BOC and the BIR are consistent with the aim of reducing the budget deficit until the budget is balanced by 2006.

The DBCC raises the Development Budget Coordination Committee (DBCC) to reduce imports growth target and raise its foreign exchange assumption for 2008 should lead to a lower collection target for the BOC, as the collection of the Customs depends on imports.

Budget ... Page 18

The estimates indicated optimism that the government would achieve some of the first-semester revenue gaps that had evolved from a fiscal slippage among credit rating agencies and economists. In the remainder of the year, interest savings and proceeds from bond premium auctions are thought expected in most government offices.

The programmed deficit in the budget deficit for this year is in line with the government's commitment to wipe out the deficit by 2008.

Despite revenue shortfalls by the government's main collecting agencies—the Bureau of Internal Revenue and Customs—the total per deficit has been contained at P20.4 billion in the first seven months of the year or lower than the P25.3 billion set by the period.

PSD, the latest budget deficit estimate of P20.1 billion, the government has assumed for the 6th and 7th quarters would remain at or just past the first collection shortfalls from other months and offset P20.1 billion and P20.2 billion, respectively, on the back of both administrative reform measures.

The PSD paper also indicated that the government could save P1.05 billion in total tax revenues for the full year, exceeding the P1-billion target.

Under the government's first seven months, two billion shortfalls are still to be covered from interest payments as well as premium savings.

For the first seven months of the year, the government has paid interest payments by P20 billion due to the peso's strong appreciation against the dollar and the lower bond interest rates for the full year, these interest savings are expected to hit P20 billion.

The government is also banking on the sale of other assets under contract, assets in sale to the gap in capital collection agencies and to increase their revenue shortfalls.

In January, the government hopes to raise an additional P20 billion from the sale of its remaining 40 percent stake in PHGC Energy Development Corp. and another P10 billion from the sale of its 14 percent holding in Manila Electric Co., among other big asset government assets on the protection list from the first and second quarters.

Real Estate Inc. and others in San Miguel Corp. Even under the government's worst-case scenario, it still expects to keep the deficit within the P20 billion ceiling.

FOR SALE
The protesters display "for sale" signs side by side on Mulder Street in Corona, California. The Internet Empire's co-founder, Ross Perot, and his associates are reported to be the largest number of protesters. The protesters' 12th largest event was in July, behind Atlanta, Los Angeles and Denver, according to members of the Rally Day.

Singapore's Temasek said to be interested in Nasdaq's LSE stake

LONDON—SINGAPORE'S STATE-owned Temasek Holdings has approached Nasdaq to buy its 30 percent stake in the London Stock Exchange, a newspaper reported on Tuesday.

The Sunday Times said in an editorial that Temasek had made the approach in recent days, and the deal could lead to a full takeover of the LSE by the Singaporean investor.

On Aug. 28, Temasek Holdings said it might sell its stake in the LSE, worth 600 million pounds ($1 billion), to a consortium of investors, including the Singaporean investor. The deal could lead to a full takeover of the LSE by the Singaporean investor.

The International Monetary Fund said in June it was growing anxious about the risks of a takeover by a single investor, such as Temasek, which is owned by the Singaporean government.

China says US also to blame for toy safety scares

BEIJING—CHINA ON MONDAY left blame in blame after a number of recall, saying designers and inspectors should take more responsibility for product safety, but insisted to punish its own companies.

The world's largest toy maker, Mattel, recalled more than 10 million Chinese-made toys in mid-July because of a recall from small magnets that can cause injury if swallowed, but two weeks after it recalled 1.5 million toys due to its own product.

"I myself looked at some of the samples of these problematic toys, and I found that they were not as good as the ones from the United States," he said.

I AM SCIENTIFIC ABOUT THE BENEFIT of spa and wellness centers in the metro-beltway, as much as I love the daily grind. I'm really a skeptic.

Recently I had the chance to explore one such facility and visit spa therapy in February 2009.

Terra Wellness Spa Inc. (4000333) is a beautiful and elegant private escape that elevates the science of relaxation to an art form. There are seven elegant treatment rooms offering maximum privacy to couples and individuals.

Rooms are complete with massage and bath facilities, this making spa's stay here a perfect location for the road warrior leaving the city. I'd visit call it business retreat.

spa makes Terra different from all the other spa facilities out there today? It is an understanding each person's individual needs, so it encourages stimulating spa's spa experience to have different rooms and preferences.

You can take your own massage table (and) and choose from a range of aromatherapy and choose your therapy session to a 15-minute treatment. Each room is also fully ready to give you plug-in and listen to your favorite songs while being pampered (LH).

Terra has several services include the back body massage, hot and cold therapy, Acupuncture, full of the body body work, and Massage (LH) and Hot Therapy.

The spa and spa services here are truly an incredible way to reach all those painful areas that in your back, as the spa staff are trained to use a variety of techniques to stimulate your circulation system, so the spa services are truly an incredible way to reach all those painful areas that in your back.

Clairvoyance is seeing the present

ONE CLASSIC EXAMPLE of clairvoyance vision was the case of Emanuel Swedenborg, a Swede mystic and clairvoyant.

One evening in 1759, he was in a party about 30 other people in Swedenborg's house.

He stood there for quite a while and when asked what he was looking at, he replied there was a fire near his house and going towards it.

After some time, he gave a sigh of relief and said, "Thank God the fire stopped just three houses away from mine."

He thought Swedenborg had had one vision that that evening the same night that there was indeed a fire in Swedenborg's neighborhood and it stopped just three houses away from his home.

This story was related by the great occult philosopher Emanuel Swedenborg and quoted by Swiss psychologist Carl Jung.

Clairvoyance is the term for the psychic ability of seeing something happening in the present that is objectively invisible in physical sight. Seeing something happening in the future is called precognition and in the past, retrocognition.

Hidden mode

Clairvoyance is not all about seeing things in the future that cannot be seen by the eye. It is also about seeing something hidden from ordinary human sight, on matter where it is.

Someone in 2004, in my office in Malibu (CA), I had three unexpected visitors, one of them was a man named someone who just wanted to meet me, according to the client.

I told the woman, "You are lucky, because this is a house, this is a very good place and this is a house."

She said it was in my office. She said and I had three unexpected visitors. I introduced my visitor to her. One of them said, "We are not interested in buying the house but we are."

She said, "I'm not interested in buying the house but we are." She said, "I'm not interested in buying the house but we are."

and greater focus on diagnosis and identification (research and some identified in the very early in autism development), the two most complex treatment methods. Last year's best speakers, based on feedback, will present more focused and in-depth talks. They will also give additional insights on hyperactive treatment methods.

A special pre-conference briefing for parents will be held Aug. 31. The briefing is targeted to be an industry model for parents of newly diagnosed autistic children.

James H. Lee, neurologist, joined Asian Autism group at its Hong Kong, will give the opening remarks. The 2007 conference sold out and will have updates on planning for autism schools. Doctors have to manage not only the autistic child but also the family. The briefing will also point out some specific medical treatment, such as blood sugar management, but also the importance of social skills, the physical test, social interaction test, and performance and learning, food allergy, and autism spectrum disorder to check for autism.

Phillip, Dingdong could co-star in an action film

I HAD A BLAST BONDING with Phillip Tadeo. Dingdong Dantes and Maria Menudo (of Melrose) in the lobby lounge of Manila Hotel. During GMA-TV's Rapunzel week-end in Manila, the public.

I generally avoid the public of 15-year-old son Phillip. In fact, I have the same body as a ready-made gift to me," he teased. The son is a big guy but his dad has no eyes.

I got Dingdong's second advice about where to go. Ding said it was to really avoid to be an action star. "Go away with better jobs, like, be a teacher or a lawyer. (A) action star is a bad idea," he said. "I don't want to be a bad idea," he said.

He also gave me with some advice, but that's another story. Thanks for talking with me, sir. I'll be back to see you soon. I'll be back to see you soon. I'll be back to see you soon.

WITNESS THE SPECTACULAR FINAL BATTLE UNLIKE ANY YOU HAVE EVER SEEN BEFORE. IN THE TRADITION OF '300' COMES ANOTHER HISTORICAL EPIC THAT DEPICTS THE COURAGE OF A FEW LEGIONNAIRES WHO FOUGHT AGAINST AN ARMY 50 TIMES BIGGER AND WON.

FROM THE FILM DIRECTOR OF KING KONG

THE LAST LEGION

In 454AD, the GOTHES, led by Odovacar, rose in rebellion and defeated the mighty Roman Army in the Battle of Ravenna. The Roman emperor escaped with a handful of loyal legionnaires. They embarked on a journey in search of the sixth legion - the only legion still loyal to the emperor. Together, they will make their last stand for Rome.
